

Thanks very much for joining me for the Pond Reflections demo!

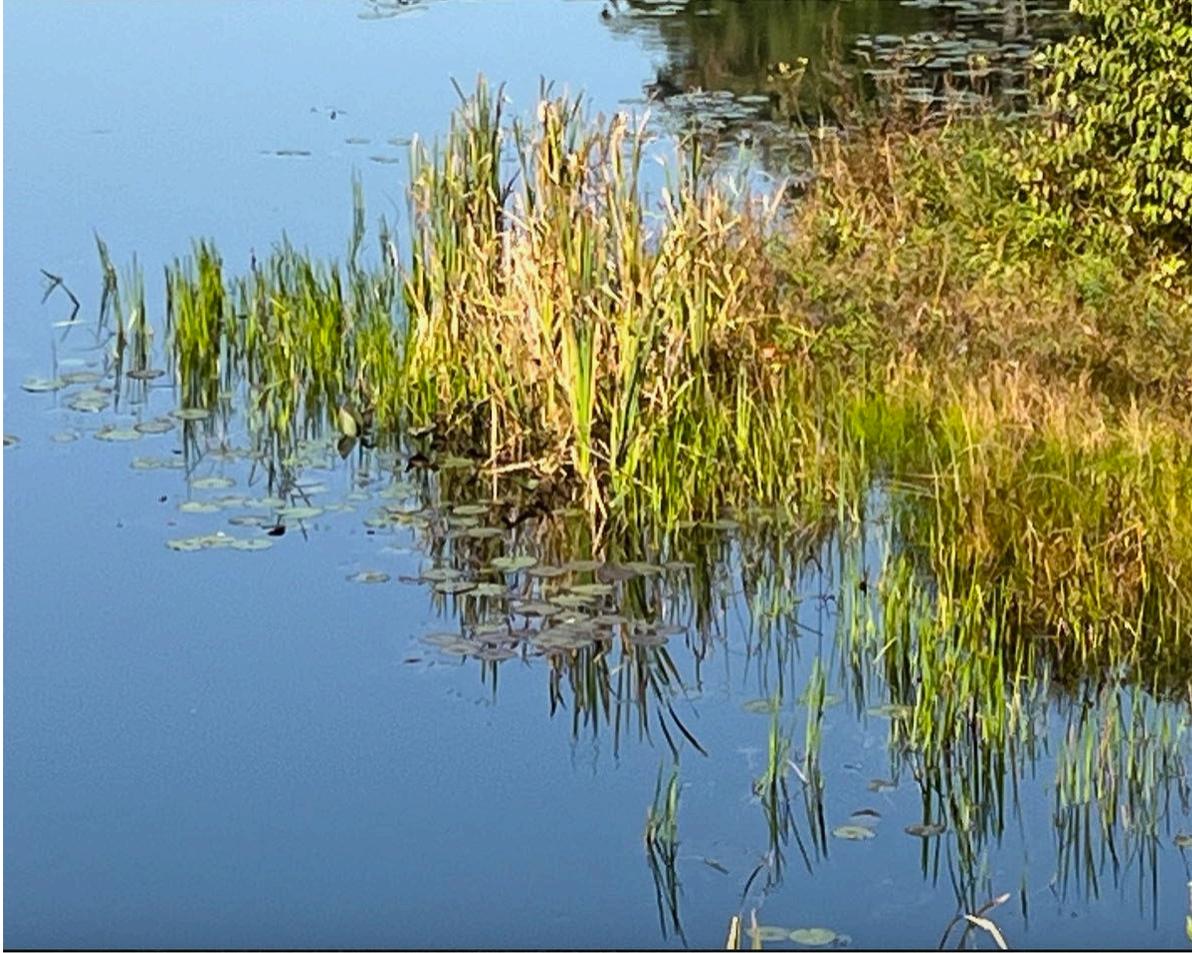

Below is the final piece along with details of its completion, the reference photo, my thumbnail sketch and my palette.

The painting was nearly complete at the end of the demo, and after taking a short break away from it, I decided to flesh out the grasses in a few areas, along the top center, and in the foreground and along the left. I added more detailed grasses to the left edge, and a few decisive, brighter grass details all over to give the piece a finished look. These additions took another 30-45 minutes total. I decided to call this “Dragonfly’s View,” because I imagine this intimate, slightly aerial view is maybe what the dragonfly would fly to when looking at the original panoramic photo.

The winner of this time's original piece raffle was Kathy Venice of Swansea, MA — Congratulations!

Thanks so much to everyone who joined me for this, I am honored with your company and your participation.

Next demo coming up is: July 30, Flowers in the Garden. Hope you can join me then!
